Safe Harbor Statement

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This presentation includes “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Actual results may differ from expectations, estimates and projections and, consequently, readers should not rely on these forward-looking statements as predictions of future events. Words such as “expect,” “target,” “assume,” “estimate,” “project,” “budget,” “forecast,” “anticipate,” “intend,” “plan,” “may,” “will,” “could,” “should,” “believe,” “predicts,” “potential,” “continue,” and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements involve significant risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from expected results, including, among other things, those described in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2013, and any subsequent Quarterly Reports on form 10-Q, under the caption “Risk Factors.” Factors that could cause actual results to differ include, but are not limited to, higher than expected operating costs, changes in prepayment speeds of mortgages underlying our residential mortgage-backed securities (RMBS), the rates of default or decreased recovery on the mortgages underlying our non-Agency securities, failure to recover credit losses in our portfolio, changes in interest rates and the market value of our assets, the availability of financing, the availability of target assets at attractive prices, our ability to manage various operational risks associated with our business, our ability to maintain our REIT qualification, limitations imposed on our business due to our REIT status and our exempt status under the Investment Company Act of 1940, the impact of new legislation or regulatory changes on our operations, the impact of any deficiencies in the servicing or foreclosure practices of third parties and related delays in the foreclosure process, our ability to acquire mortgage loans or securitize the mortgage loans we acquire, our involvement in securitization transactions, the timing and profitability of our securitization transactions, the risks associated with our securitization transactions, our ability to acquire mortgage servicing rights, the impact of new or modified government mortgage refinance or principal reduction programs, unanticipated changes in overall market and economic conditions, and our exposure to claims and litigation, including litigation arising from our involvement in securitization transactions and investments in mortgage servicing rights.

Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance upon any forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date made. Two Harbors does not undertake or accept any obligation to release publicly any updates or revisions to any forward-looking statement to reflect any change in its expectations or any change in events, conditions or circumstances on which any such statement is based. Additional information concerning these and other risk factors is contained in Two Harbors’ most recent filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). All subsequent written and oral forward-looking statements concerning Two Harbors or matters attributable to Two Harbors or any person acting on its behalf are expressly qualified in their entirety by the cautionary statements above.

Subprime Bond Overview

MARKET CHARACTERISTICS

- Subprime sector since the crisis has functioned like a distressed market
- Legacy subprime bonds have been purchased at a significant discount to par due to the credit sensitivities of the security
 - Became deeply discounted as borrower performance deteriorated during the housing/financial crisis
- Mispricing of credit risk presents an opportunity for investors with strong expertise in credit analysis
- Subordination and excess spread built into the capital structure can provide sub-prime bonds protection against substantial losses on the underlying loans.
- Performance of underlying collateral is driver of realized yield on the asset; not all bonds are created equal

BORROWER CHARACTERISTICS

- Low credit score
- Impaired or limited credit history
- High debt-to-income ratio
- Undisclosed or verified income
- Minimal down payment (e.g. high loan-to-value ratio)

Outlook for Subprime Bond Portfolio

WE BELIEVE UPSIDE POTENTIAL REMAINS IN OUR SUBPRIME PORTFOLIO

- Conservative prepay/default assumptions
- Higher prepayment behavior and potential servicing actions could provide value in the future
 - Refinancing due to low interest rates
 - Better economic growth
 - Home Price Appreciation (HPA)
 - Increasing housing turnover from better mobility as employment metrics improve
- Servicer actions are helping borrowers
- Consider other plausible scenarios when reviewing the expected fundamental performance of these bonds
- Legacy subprime bonds provide attractive loss-adjusted yields against a backdrop of improving loan performance

RISK CONSIDERATIONS THAT MAY RESULT IN VALUATION DECLINES

- Potential HPA declines; increased delinquencies and defaults
- Uncertain cash flow because of potential servicer actions
